Senate Approves Minimum Pay Bill; Sent To House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate for the second time in this Congress has passed a bill raising the minimum wage from $1.60 to $2.20 an hour for 56 million U.S. workers.

Sponsors said this time, however, they believed there was a fair chance either President Nixon would sign the legislation or that his veto could be overridden.

Nixon vetoed the 1973 bill, almost identical to the one passed Thursday, and was sustained in the House by a comfortable 23-vote margin.

But a number of Republicans who voted to uphold him last year reportedly have changed their minds.

The 69-to-22 vote sent the legislation to the House, where a Labor subcommittee already has approved a similar measure.

Its version would fix an eventual $2.30 minimum but its steps would be more gradual than under the Senate bill.

The full House Labor Committee and then the House itself are expected to act soon on the legislation.

The Senate vote for the bill was substantially greater than the 64-33 margin by which the 1973 bill passed.

In addition to raising the wage floor, the bill would extend coverage of the wages and hours act to seven million additional workers, repeal overtime pay exemptions which apply in several industries and tighten present law on child labor on farms.

In three days of Senate debate, Republicans made several attempts to alter the bill to make it conform to Nixon's views but all of their amendments were defeated.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., chief sponsor of the bill, said the present wage floor leaves millions of families in poverty. Even the $2.20 minimum would not quite lift a family of four to the poverty level, he said.

Republicans argued that the increase actually would deprive marginally trained workers of job opportunities.

The new coverage in the bill would include five million state, federal, state and local employees including firemen and policemen, one million domestics, and an additional 600,000 retail store workers.

Nixon opposed all of the new coverage. In addition, he insisted that the bill include a youth differential permitting lower wage rates for 16- and 17-year-olds, but the sponsors would not agree to this.

FBI Memos Show Secret Tactics Used

WASHINGTON (AP) — For nearly four years the FBI employed secret disruptive tactics against black militants and other radical groups.

The purpose was to destroy organizations the FBI considered violence-prone and to topple their leaders from whatever power and influence they had amassed in the black and white communities, according to secret FBI memos made public Thursday.

The sheaf of documents, reluctantly released by the FBI on orders from Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, also disclosed details of similar counterintelligence operations against the Socialist Workers party and the Ku Klux Klan.

The Socialists have challenged the constitutionality of the tactics in a lawsuit pending in New York.

The documents indicate that the counterintelligence programs differed considerably from the agency's more traditional investigative functions.

According to the memos, the campaign against "militant black nationalist-hate groups" was launched Aug. 25, 1967, and expanded a year later to involve 41 FBI field offices across the nation.

The campaign against the Socialists began with a memo dated Oct. 12, 1961, and against the Klan with a memo dated Sept. 2, 1964. All three operations were officially terminated by a previously-released memo dated April 28, 1971.

The new memos, released under pressure from newsmen citing the Freedom of Information Act, were heavily censored to delete the names of target organizations and individuals. Saxbe said he considered that information a part of investigative files and thus exempt from the disclosure law.

In describing goals of the black militant campaign, the FBI said it intended to:

— "Prevent the coalition of militant black nationalist groups" because it feared "the beginning of a true black revolution."

— "Prevent the rise of a 'messiah' who could unify, and electrify, the militant black nationalist movement." The memo listed several potential "messiahs," but those names were censored out.

— "Prevent violence on the part of black nationalist groups Through counterintelligence, it should be possible to pinpoint potential troublemakers and neutralize them before they exercise their potential for violence."

Mitchell-Stans Jury Hears Sears Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry L. Sears is scheduled to take the witness stand in federal court for a fourth day today, winding up his account of financier Robert L. Vesco's $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

Sears is a key government witness against former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and onetime Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans. They are accused of repaying Vesco's six-figure contribution by impeding a Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigation of his multimillion dollar global financial empire.

Sears had been expected to complete his direct testimony Thursday and undergo initial cross examination. But a previous commitment led U.S. District Court Judge Lee P. Gagliardi to shorten the day to a single three-hour session, which may upset the timetable.

Only after he was granted total immunity as a defendant in the case did Sears begin his testimony last Tuesday.

A one-time Republican majority leader of the New Jersey state Senate, Sears quit office at the end of 1971 and became a $60,000 a year legal aide to Vesco.

Sears previously testified he was with Laurence Richardson, president of Vesco's flagship International Controls Corp., when the latter gave a briefcase crammed with $100 bills to Stans April 10, 1972. Stans and Mitchell had quit the cabinet to run Nixon's reelection campaign.

"Mr. Vesco wants me to deliver you a message," Sears quoted Richardson as telling Stans. "He'd like to get some help."

Sears said Stans quickly informed them "that's John Mitchell's department."

Sears said he went directly from Stans office to Mitchell's, and there the former attorney general arranged by phone for him to meet with the then SEC chairman William J. Casey — a meeting Sears had been trying for months to achieve. Sears said four hours after the $200,000 changed hands he was face to face with Casey in the latter's SEC office.

Sears said other meetings with SEC officials followed but by July Vesco was discouraged at the slow rate of progress and urged him to see Stans again and ask him "for some help."

Sears said he talked Vesco out of this idea, but not before the financier exploded at one point and cried out, "My God, I gave all that money."

Meanwhile, Sears said word reached him that "Bob Vesco was dropping John Mitchell's name all over Europe." The witness said he remonstrated with Vesco, and the latter denied the accusation.

At the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach in August, 1972, Sears testified about an encounter with Stans:

"Mr. Stans said, 'I just wanted you to know as far as the Vesco contribution is concerned, there is no record of it.' He said also, 'the SEC matter got too hot to handle.'"

Poll Shows Dip In Nixon Credibility

NEW YORK (AP) — Seventy-five per cent of the people surveyed in a recent Harris poll agreed with the statement that President Nixon "has lost so much credibility that it will be hard for him to be accepted as President again."

Only 17 per cent disagreed with the statement, pollster Louis Harris reported Thursday.

The number of people who think the President is doing an over-all good job dropped 1 per cent in February to a new low of 29 per cent.

Of the 6,665 households surveyed from Feb. 18 to Feb. 22, only 15 per cent now rate Nixon "good" or "excellent" in inspiring confidence in the White House.

Harris also reported that only 48 per cent now considered Nixon a man of high integrity, compared to 68 per cent a year ago. Only 27 per cent believe Watergate should be forgotten because of Nixon's record in foreign affairs, while 59 per cent reject that argument.

The latest survey shows that 63 per cent believe Nixon knew about the Watergate cover-up while it was going on, with 24 per cent believing he did not.

Those who think Nixon is no longer effective and should resign were 46 per cent of the polling sample, compared with 41 per cent opposed to the resignation, about the same figures produced in a January poll.

Harris concluded from the poll that "all of President Nixon's recent efforts to restore the faith and confidence of the American people, including his State of the Union message and his stump personal appearances around the country, must be deemed a failure."

—Discredit militants in the eyes of responsible blacks, white liberals and black radicals.

The memo said the primary targets "should be the most violent and radical groups and their leaders."

The document instructed field agents to report counterintelligence activities regularly, to obtain FBI headquarters approval for each operation, and to make sure "that there is no possibility of embarrassment to the bureau."

In another memo, the FBI suggested that the San Francisco field office undertake a "disruptive-disinformation operation" against the national office of the Black Panther party.

Daylight Time Doing Job, Figures Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal energy officials say they think year-around Daylight Saving Time is helping to save some fuel in the energy crisis, but the final verdict is not yet in.

Energy chief William E. Simon estimated last January that the nation would save some 150,000 barrels of oil daily during the winter months because of the resumption of Daylight Saving Time Jan. 6.

Simon's experts still have no reliable measurement of the fuel-saving effects of daylight saving time but they say it does help. They also say it does not appear to have caused any increase in predawn traffic fatalities.

Douglas C. Bauer, deputy assistant director of energy conservation in the Federal Energy Office, said in an interview that electric power generation appeared to be, on average, about 3 per cent lower than usual during the last two weeks, but it was not clear how much of that saving was due to DST and how much was due to mild weather.

There were scattered reports from individual power companies, however, that the time change was doing what it was supposed to do.

Bauer explained that the main purpose of restoring Daylight Saving Time during the winter was to spread demand for electricity more evenly throughout the day.

Bauer said some peak-shifting has been reported since daylight saving returned, by Potomac Electric Power Co., Florida Power and Light, Consolidated Edison Co., Wisconsin Power and Light, and Southern California Edison Co.

Meanwhile, the National Safety Council has reported that the change back to DST "has had little or no effect on the number of early morning fatalities among school-age children."

Kidnaped Boy Freed; Other Cases Probed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An 8-year-old Long Island boy kidnaped as he walked home from school Wednesday was released unharmed early today after a ransom was paid, authorities said.

Officials refused to reveal the amount of the ransom, but there were reports it amounted to $50,000.

John Calzadilla of Dix Hills, N.Y., walked into a Holiday House restaurant on the New Jersey Turnpike near Secaucus about 1:10 a.m. after being released from a black sedan, authorities said.

"The boy is fine. I thank the FBI for a fine job," said Michael Calzadilla, the youth's father, in a brief statement. Calzadilla is a tire salesman.

The boy, appearing in good spirits, was cradled in his father's arms in the back seat of a car. "I feel fine," John told newsmen.

The boy said he thought he had been held captive in a hotel or motel but did not know the locality.

The boy also said there were three people in the black sedan that let him off in front of the restaurant — two men and a red-headed woman, Cox said.

In developments on other recent kidnappings:

—Another massive distribution of free food to San Francisco Bay area poor takes place today, the fourth financed by newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst in an effort to free his daughter, Patricia, from kidnapers. The 20-year-old coed was kidnaped by the Symbionese Liberation Army Feb. 4, and there has been no word from the kidnapers since Feb. 21.

A. Ludlow Kramer, executive director of People in Need, which is handling the food distribution, said Thursday "as of today, more than 80,000 food packets costing $416,820 have been distributed."

Kramer estimated the original $2 million commitment from Hearst and the William Randolph Hearst Foundation probably would enable the handout program to continue "for another four weeks."

—A Lilburn, Ga., couple faces arraignment today on a total of nine charges stemming from the abduction of Atlanta newspaper editor Reg

Murphy. A federal grand jury handed down indictments Thursday charging William A. H. Williams, 33, with extortion and six related counts. His wife, Betty Ruth, 26, was charged with aiding and abetting extortion and failing to report a crime.

Murphy, editor of The Atlanta Constitution, was released unharmed Feb. 23 after being held captive for 49 hours. The newspaper's owners paid a $700,000 ransom.

—In Roanoke, Va., Betty Ann Van Balen, kidnaped Wednesday and released Thursday after payment of a $25,000 ransom, says one of her abductors formerly worked for her husband, Mrs. Balen's sister reported. The FBI today refused comment on the report.

The kidnapers remained at large. The FBI said Thursday night that they were looking for a man and a woman.

Mrs. Van Balen was released in West Virginia, and local authorities were checking motels and hotels in the Fayetteville and Charleston areas for the two suspects.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, apparently encouraged by the news that unemployment did not increase in February, steadied today after some early declines.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was unchanged at 869.06, recovering from a drop of better than 7 points earlier.

However, declining issues still held a broad lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the selling at the start of the session appeared to stem largely from reports of disagreement among Arab oil-producing countries over where and when to hold a meeting to discuss the future of their embargo on shipments to the United States.

Avis, Inc., was a notable loser on the NYSE, sliding 2 3/4 to 13 3/4 after a drop of 1 1/2 Thursday. The Securities and Exchange Commission accused the company of filing a false and misleading quarterly financial report last year.

At the American Stock Exchange, the noon market-value index was up .26 at 98.69.

Ramada Inns, down 1/8 at 7 1/4, was the Big Board volume leader.

Horse Racing Is Topic For Rotary Guest Speaker

ROTARY GUEST—Larry Evans, left, is shown with Rotary member T. D. Van Camp and John Fissell at Thursday's luncheon meeting. Evans was guest speaker and spoke on horse racing since he is the Publicity Director of the U. S. Trotting Association.

Guest speaker for the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club was Larry Evans, introduced to the members by T. D. Van Camp. Evans is publicity director for the United States Trotting Association and the "Hoofbeats" magazine.

John Fissell was commended by the club for his efforts in getting the Southeastern Ohio colt stakes at the Pickaway County Fair. Evans commented on the outstanding horses, trainers and drivers representative of Pickaway County.

Special attention was given to a horse owned by the late George Van Camp called Steam' Demon. Steam' was a world record double gaited stallion. His record was 1.57 as a pacer and 1.59 as a trotter.

Evans presented a film entitled "This is Harness Racing". The film showed the difference between trotters and pacers and explained many of the training aids used by champion trainers. Among the training aids were swimming pools and sauna baths for the horses. The film also included a sulkey's eye view during a real race and the narrator explained the whole strategy of the race.

The headquarters for the U. S. Trotting Association is in Columbus and is responsible for the registration of all horses in the standard breed field. The association also regulates races not controlled by the state of Ohio. The eight pari-mutual tracks in Ohio contribute over $6 million to the state of Ohio in tax money.

In regular Rotary business, Earl Palm reminded the group of the old-fashioned box lunch social planned for 6:30 p.m. March 21. Proceeds from the social to be in the 4-H Grange building will be donated to the Crippled Children Fund. Members were urged to bring items of value and especially antiques to be auctioned for the benefit of the crippled children.

Guests at the luncheon meeting held at the L-K Restaurant were Art Dick, R. B. Hays, John Fissell and Clark Cory.

Spain Weighs Bishop's Case

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Spain's government and the country's Roman Catholic bishops were meeting separately today to weigh the case of Bishop Antonio Anoveros amid reports the government has come up with a proposal to cool down the church-state confrontation.

Catholic sources indicated the government of Premier Carlos Arias Navarro put the proposal together Thursday after marathon sessions with church leaders. The sources gave no details and no indication of the likely reaction from the congress of bishops.

Most of the bishops were reported solidly behind their colleague.

The government kept Bishop Anoveros under house arrest for a week and threatened to indict or exile him because of a homily he distributed in his Basque diocese Feb. 24 calling for more freedom for the Basques.

The homily in effect defied the government's new crackdown on Basque nationalism, which is blamed for the assassination of Arias Navarro's predecessor, Premier Louis Carrero Blanco, on Dec. 20.

Indictment or exile of the bishop would violate the 1953 Concordat between Spain and the Vatican, which specifies that bishops cannot be arrested or tried without the Vatican's permission. Church sources said Thursday the government was considering tearing up the treaty; a Foreign Ministry spokesman denied this, and the church sources stood behind their report.

Bishop Anoveros, 64, has rejected a government request that he leave Spain voluntarily and vowed to go only if forced to do so or ordered by the Vatican.

According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies J. Phillip Brown and Lawrence Holt, Albright was traveling south on State Route 104 when he failed to negotiate a curve.

Going left of center the auto hit the guard rail striking a utility pole flipping end over end. The auto went over an embankment coming to rest on its wheels.

After striking a mailbox and a tree, Burris returned to the car leaving the scene of the accident.

Deputy Deal apprehended Burris at the intersection of Route 22 and Canal Road.

Appeals Court Affirms Trial Decision

The Fourth District Court of Appeals affirmed a decision made in the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. The appellant, Green, Inc., filed the appeal on the alleged errors in the decision made in the court trial.

Presiding Judge Earl Stephenson and Homer Abele concurred on the affirmation decision. The court of appeals found no prejudicial error and therefore the original decision of the court trial is upheld.

The court trial had judged in favor of the defendants, Robert A. Smith and others. Green, Inc. brought forth the appeal to reverse that decision thus having the property in question conveyed to them plus an additional $20,000 judgment.

Jobless Rate Holds Steady

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate held steady at 5.2 per cent of the work force in February despite the energy crunch, the government said today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, reporting the surprise statistic, said total employment remained unchanged at 90.5 million while the number of people out of work held at 4.7 million.

Specialists in the bureau could offer no reason for the sudden halt in unemployment, which has risen from 4.6 per cent of the work force since last October, primarily because of job layoffs caused by the energy crisis.

The bureau estimated that from November through February between 125,000 and 200,000 jobs were lost directly because of fuel shortages.

One reason for the apparent strength of employment in February was shown in a separate survey of industry employment, showing that nonfarm payroll jobs posted a net increase of 175,000 last month.

State Having It Easy With Gas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio has had it easier with the gasoline shortage than Eastern states.

Rep. Samuel L. Devine, R-Ohio, reported friendly competition among retail dealers around Washington to see who can sell the least gasoline to a customer.

One recent day, he said, one service station operator figured he had the record. A customer ordered a fill-up but his tank would take only 49 cents worth of fuel.

A station owner across the street, said Devine, topped him with the elderly customer who needed only 17 cents worth of gasoline to top out his auto tank.

A Youngstown banker pressured the grandfather of Atty. Gen. William J. Brown to change his name in order to get an $837 car loan.

Brown said the banker in 1927 told his grandfather, Alfred Barone, a native of Naples, Italy, he would have to change his name if he wanted the money. Barone changed his name to Brown for the loan, but after the deal was completed returned to Barone.

The rest of the family, including the attorney general's father, Joseph, kept the name of Brown.

Dr. John C. Whitaker, under secretary of the U.S. Department of Interior, spoke at the Ohio Newspaper Association meeting and said he occasionally escapes Washington to fish in Nova Scotia.

He said he usually begins with a visit to a Nova Scotia community with a winter population of two, summer population of nine.

A resident asked, "Where is Washington, D.C.?"

"About 700 miles south of here as a bird flies," said Whitaker.

"How many people live there?"

"I suppose about two million," said Whitaker.

The Canadian paused, then asked, "How come so many people live so far from everything?"

Whitaker said he had no answer.

You may have thought that stopping at a red light and then turning right was a matter between you and your city council or the nearest traffic cop.

Sen. Charles P. Bolton, R-31 Mentor, the newest member of the Senate, has joined the group. He has introduced a bill in the General Assembly that would make such a maneuver legal.

Bolton argues the proposal would conserve gasoline and promote a smoother traffic flow. Many cities now permit such right turns unless prohibited by a sign and many states have gotten into the act.

The bill, to allow such turns except where prohibited by signs, was introduced Feb. 20 and is expected to get hearings in the Senate Transportation and Local Government Committee.

Brennan Ruling Hit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio officials are asking the Federal District Court here to declare U.S. Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan exceeded his authority by interfering with a state equal opportunity employment order.

The petition, reportedly the first of its kind in the nation, asks the court to invalidate a federal regulation and relieve Ohio of waiting for federal approval before continuing its equal opportunity employment plan.

The state order, issued by Gov. John Gilligan on Jan. 27, 1972, requires equal hiring by contractors bidding on state and state-assisted construction projects.

Atty. Gen. William J. Brown said in the complaint it would take up to six months for the U.S. Labor Department to rule on Ohio's plan, depriving citizens of equal employment opportunities for that period.

A Danish journalist estimated that, during the 1972 Olympics, "The people of Denmark gained a total of 2,000 tons in weight, just from munching snacks before their television sets."

Southpaws Ignored

Many lefthanded persons bemoan the inconveniences of daily living they must endure. Common are the annoyances a "lefty" must put up with in a righthanded world. Such an everyday occurrence as driving an automobile can be an unnerving series of awkward manipulations for the lefthanded person.

Starter and accelerator are on the right side, virtually all the footwork in cars with automatic transmissions is on the right side, radios, heaters and other gadgets are on the right side, and the lefthanded smoker must fumble across the steering wheel for an ash tray on the right side.

At home or at work, the lives of lefthanded persons are filled with sinister gadgets, all seemingly designed with the idea of frustrating the southpaw. Buttons, zippers, scissors, pencil sharpeners, garden implements, kitchen utensils and doors are but a few of the obstacles encumbering the lives of lefthanders.

Writing accessories, such as check books, notebooks and record forms are all but impossible for the sinistral to utilize legibly. Automation has eased the lefthander's predicament somewhat by eliminating many of the more tedious hand operations of the past, but even the most modern machinery still favors the right hand.

Ambidexterity seems to be the only satisfactory solution for the one person of every 10 who finds himself a misfit in a world that often seems not to have been made for him.

Can't Hide The Beast

By JIM BISHOP

The phone call came from a suburb of Cleveland. It was long distance to Hollywood, Florida. She told Dr. Julius Joseph that she was 59, and would like to look younger. Her husband had died two years ago and, well, you see...

He told—"I'll call her Mrs. Francia—that any plastic surgeon, even in her own neighborhood, would make her look youthful. She said she had read a column I wrote about Dr. Joseph's work and she wanted the job to be done in Florida.

Mrs. Francia's husband had left a good sum of money to her, but she had no intention of squandering it. She took the Greyhound bus. Mrs. Francia sat up all day and most of the night dreaming of what she would look like. She thought Jane Fonda or Raquel Welch, but, for openers, she looked like Tugboat Annie.

In Dr. Joseph's office she argued about the cost of lifting her face an inch or so, and cutting the four chins to one. The eyes, which looked like slitted oriental, had to be opened separately.

There is an outer office in the Home Building, and a man named Joe Gluck sat there. He had a nice face; he was 65; but he had a nose like an outraged toucan. Dr. Joseph paled it down, and Gluck sat reading with a giant, white dressing on his proboscis.

Mrs. Francia spent the entire operative time—local anesthetic—arguing about runaway prices. Dr. Joseph is a short Santa who could stand a face job himself. He smiled and worked, and worked and smiled.

If she had known, Mrs. Francia said, that the remodeling of what was left of her face would require so much time, why she'd have remained in Cleveland. Dr. Joseph didn't say anything, but he too wished she had had the work done in Cleveland.

When it was completed, she wore a white dressing on her face and head. In the outer office, she met Joe Gluck. "What happened to your nose?" she said. "You run into a stone wall?"

He said he had been born with that horn. His wife had always insisted that she liked it. The children said, "If you get it changed, you won't look like daddy anymore."

Mrs. Gluck had died six months ago. Mrs. Francia, who was a good actor, tried hard to look griefstricken. "How awful!" she said happily. They talked of noses and faces and wondered what each other looked like underneath. "With me," said Gluck, "it's not vanity. I'm just tired of the jokes."

The lady said she was appalled at paying $75 a day at a Florida beach hotel. Gluck said he was in a small, nearby motel at $18 a day. Quicker than you can say Toboknokovsky, Mrs. Francia moved in.

They demanded that the attractive Rhoda, assistant to Dr. Joseph, make their appointments at the same time.

They arrived together, left together. Gluck took her to the lavish shows at the Diplomat and the Eden Roc.

The dressings were reduced in size, and finally came off. Mrs. Francia was indeed a handsome woman. Gluck—well, he looked like Gluck if he had put his nose on a railroad track. It didn't matter.

Love burgeons in the sixties, and there is more likelihood that they will meet in a doctor's office than at a performance of "Deep Throat." When the treatment was over, both decided to stay on for an additional week. Gluck said he had a small boatyard near Ybor City. He didn't say that he was the meanest, toughest man on the west coast of Florida.

Nor did Mrs. Francia tell him that she was a shrew whose husband, in the final year, kept wandering around muttering, "Death, death, where are you when I need you?"

No, Mrs. Francia was coy. Gluck was generous with a buck. They remained in Hollywood for an extra week, and one night Gluck said, "What are we waiting for? I got a new nose, and you have a face like an angel." Momentarily, he forgot that it wasn't hers.

A month fled, and neither Dr. Joseph nor Rhoda had seen or heard from their patients. Rhoda phoned me and said that a column I wrote had spawned a romance. I said, "That's nice," but I didn't mean it. I'll bet you that in one year (or less) the former Mrs. Francia will use the end of a broom and give Gluck back his old nose.

I'll bet another nickel that the last thing he buys her is a Greyhound bus ticket to Cleveland...

Recession Real, Report Declares

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The United States is already in a recession that will continue through the first six months of this year, says the prestigious Wharton School.

A team of professors at Wharton — the University of Pennsylvania's college of finance — released a quarterly forecast Wednesday saying that fuel shortages have helped turn "an economic slowdown" into "an outright recession."

Despite President Nixon's assurances to the contrary Wednesday night, the Wharton report said several indicators clearly show the nation is in a recession. The President referred to the Wharton report in his televised news conference, but said he did not agree the nation was in a recession, nor was it headed for one.

"We feel strongly that we are in a recession, and I think most economists would agree with that," said Dr. George R. Green, head of the Wharton team, following the President's comments.

The report included four gloomy forecasts:

—A decline of about three per cent in the real gross national product (the GNP in noninflated dollars) in the first half of 1974.

—Increasing unemployment to nearly six per cent by mid-1974.

—Reduced corporate profit levels.

—A decline in the rate of the use of industrial capacity.

"The definition of a recession involves several facets," Green said. "A decline of three per cent in the real GNP for two or more quarters would certainly qualify, as would any decline that is sustained for six months."

He said an economic situation could also be considered a recession when there is "an increase in the unemployment rate to over six per cent, or if there is a decline in corporate profits."

"Any fall in corporate profits is a pretty good indication that things are not going too well — and we expect a five per cent drop for 1974," Green said.

The Wharton report says "inflationary forces have mounted to levels far higher than anything we have seen in the past 25 years."

An inflation rate of nearly nine per cent for total production is expected for the first two quarters of 1974, while overall consumer prices will rise at an annual rate of 12 per cent, says the report.

Vote Finance Bill Moving In Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A watered down political campaign financing bill apparently is ready to begin moving through the legislature after nearly five months of partisan bickering.

The House State Government Committee worked Wednesday night to put the package together and Chairman Michael Del Bane, D-56 Hubbard, indicated the committee will vote on it next week.

Using a bill by majority Republicans in the Senate as the vehicle, the proposal contains virtually all those provisions the two parties agreed on at a special legislative session on campaign financing late last year.

Missing, however, will be any language that attempts to place restrictions on the size of campaign contributions. The special session collapsed last November after Republicans sought in vain to limit union contributions, and Democrats tried without success to put a ceiling on contributions from corporate and big money interests.

In other action Wednesday, the Senate Judiciary Committee made major changes, then recommended approval of two measures already approved by the House. The amendments to the abortion control bill and so-called "no fault" divorce bill mean they must return to the lower chamber for further consideration.

State Will Receive Crime Control

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio will receive about $30 million in federal crime control money during the current fiscal year, Gov. John Gilligan announced Wednesday.

The governor said about $14 million will go to the state's eight largest metropolitan areas, about $7 million will go to the state's four non-metropolitan planning districts and about $7 million will go to state programs.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How low in salt must a "low-salt diet" be? Does it have to be absolute? Isn't this impossible?

Mrs. G. K., Mich.

Dear Mrs. K.:

Low-salt diets are recommended by doctors for patients with high blood pressure, some forms of kidney disease, liver disease, and an abnormal tendency to retain fluid.

The long-sustained use of steroid hormones is often associated with water retention, and a salt-free diet is used in such cases.

Salt is a chemical known as NaCl, or sodium chloride. The sodium portion of this compound is responsible for the accumulation of fluid.

The degree of salt limitation in the diet varies with the specific instructions of the doctor. A very strict regime means that foods are prepared totally without salt. A mild and moderate salt-free diet allows small amounts of salt, both in the preparation and at the table.

People who are on a salt-free diet frequently overlook the fact that monosodium glutamate and baking powder contain large amounts of sodium. Laxatives, club soda, other carbonated drinks also contain sodium.

Some processes used in the home to soften water add sodium, too.

It probably is impossible to completely eliminate all sodium from all foods and all liquids. But a major portion of the salt can certainly be reduced.

My mother and my aunt have goiters. I am 17 and I wonder if this will happen to me, too.

Miss B. J., Pa.

Dear Miss J.:

The enlargement of the thyroid gland in the neck, known as goiter, is really not an inherited condition. More often, it is environmental and therefore happens so frequently to members of the same family.

These non-cancerous, disfiguring enlargements of the thyroid gland occur in many people who live in inland areas where there is a deficiency of iodine in the drinking water.

You probably can eliminate the possibility of a goiter by examination of your thyroid and by the addition of iodized salt in your diet, under the direction of your doctor, of course.

NEW YORK (AP) — "If" he is said to have had in mind an American president, George Washington. "If you can dream ... and not make dreams your master," he wrote, and "If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster and treat those two imposters just the same ..."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

On February 22 our town was confronted with a ten-year-old lost child. A large picture of the child was placed on the front page of the newspaper. Well, needless to say, the public responded. Call after call came to our Department for two days. Some wanting to know if the child had been found, and some wanting to know what they could do to help.

It is so gratifying to know that people still care, and most important that they also want to help. This has erased in me a little doubt about the people's concern toward others, and makes me and my men feel effective.

We may never know exactly where this child was, but we do know the people will respond.

Mrs. Himrod just summed it up better than I could. She stated, "The people do want to get involved. Maybe not wanting to get involved is a sickness that has not hit us yet!"

Respectfully,

Princess Sets American Visit

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowden, will make an official visit to the United States in May.

The visit, announced Wednesday, will be the first time the princess has journeyed to the United States since 1965. Princess Margaret, sister of Queen Elizabeth, will travel to Canada after the May 2-9 visit.

Tangents

On Books And Activities At The Library

Dormant trees have already sent forth buds in response to the few warm spring-like days of this past week. Perhaps you too are anxiously looking forward to spring—thinking of gardening or housecleaning or tuning up your car. Perhaps you are spending some extra time in Lenten meditation. Maybe you're dreaming of faraway places or romance. If so, some of the new books now in the library may foster your mood.

"Where the Heart Is" by Arlene Hale is a romance-mystery about a young girl who inherits an old mansion and tries, too successfully, to discover its secrets. Anne Edwards' "Hesitant Heart" is a love story based upon the life of the poet, Emily Dickinson and her love for judge Otis Lord.

For mystery fans, John Creasey, writing as Gordon Ashe, has a new title, "Murder with Mushrooms." This is a suspense novel of a man who is deliberately poisoned with mushrooms. In Owen Sela's "The Kiriov Tapes", an ex-detective inspector discovers that the disappearance of key computer records may threaten the security of the state and his own life.

For western fans, new is "Blaine's Law" by Carter Travis Young. Having trailed his wife's murderer to a town controlled by outlaws, Cullom Blaine is forced to decide if he can kill an innocent man in order to avenge his wife. "The Blowholes" by John Reese is part two of a trilogy. With only three slim clues, Ownie Cope sets out to capture the outlaws who had mercilessly attacked a hillbilly family, leaving only two orphaned children.

"The Memory of Old Jack" by Wendell Berry is an old-fashioned type novel about the virtues of honest toil and love of the land. It is the story of a man who encounters success and failure and develops into a much-admired human being.

"Life is For Living" by Theresa A. Morse is a practical guide to coping with grief after a death in the family. "Five for Sorrow, Ten for Joy" is a collection of meditations in contemporary terms on the mysteries of the Rosary. J. Neville Ward, the author of the book, is a Methodist minister who believes that the themes represented speak to all Christians in their daily life experiences. "It's Me, O Lord!" by Michael Hollings is a collection of informal, short prayers concerned with everyday problems of living.

"How to Make Your Home More Convenient" by the editors of Farm Journal may provide help or inspiration for that spring housecleaning. It contains more than 350 suggestions for saving space and increasing comfort in the home. Each idea is illustrated, some with construction diagrams. Also by the Editors of Farm Journal, is "Family Favorites from Country Kitchens." This is a collection of outstanding recipes from the best cooks in the country, selected and tested by the Food Editors of Farm Journal.

With thoughts turning to spring and romance, weddings will inevitably follow. For couples who wish to interweave the traditional with the modern, "Write Your Own Wedding" by Mordecai L. Brill is suggested. The book includes contemporary celebrations and traditional ceremonies for Jews, Roman Catholics, and Protestants. The author also gives many suggestions for prayers and music. While not as helpful as Brill, "Getting Married the Way You Want" by Dobrin and Briggs does provide a variety of novel ideas for weddings. In "The Joyful Wedding" by Nick Hodson, the emphasis is on joy and casualness. The author offers ideas for both Catholic and Protestant weddings using old or new rituals. Wendy Somerville Wall's "Creative Wedding Handbook" does a thorough job of covering the nuptial mass and exchange of vows for Roman Catholics.

Marriage isn't all moonlight and roses as you may discover if you read "Your First Year of Marriage" by Dr. Tom McGinnis. "The Young Marriage" by Mary Anne Guitart, or one of the other good handbooks on marriage.

The new summer issue of "Modern Bride Magazine" presents the latest fashions in wedding dresses and bridesmaids dresses. If you have had any experience with sewing, you might like to adapt some of the ideas and make your own dresses. "Design Your Own Dress Patterns" by Adele P. Margolis offers basic information for pattern making for women who like to sew.

"How to Make Better Polaroid Instant Pictures" by Paul Giambra will provide tips for successfully recording the great day on film. This guide includes information on camera models, lighting, picture content, people pictures, travel pictures, framing and displaying the pictures.

Other interesting non-fiction includes "Poor Man's Guide To Bottle Collecting" by Austen; "Mars: The first authentic guide to another world" by Moore; "Japan: A History in Art" by Smith; and "Akhenaten and Nefertiti" by Aldred.

Wholesale Prices Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices took another big leap forward in February but the increase fell short of soaring rates of previous months, the government said today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said that wholesale prices jumped by a seasonally adjusted 1.2 per cent last month, the smallest advance in four months but a highly inflationary rate nevertheless.

The increase pushed wholesale prices 20.3 per cent higher than a year earlier, an extraordinarily sharp rise for any 12-month period but still below record levels.

The February increase lifted the Wholesale Price Index to 152.7 of the 1967 average, meaning that it cost $152.70 to buy the same volume of wholesale goods that $100 purchased in 1967. The increase means that consumers will be seeing many of the rises at the retail level in the weeks ahead.

About 70 per cent of the February increase was traced to price increases for fuel, primarily gasoline and residual fuels; metals, farm products and processed foods and feeds.

Poster Twins In Appearance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The poster twins of the National Association for Retarded Children have made their first public appearance in the 1974 campaign in the company of First Lady Pat Nixon.

Mrs. Nixon posed for photographs with 6-year-old Mark and Mike Hembo of Cypress, Calif., at the White House Wednesday. The youngsters' parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hembo, and a 7-year-old brother, Scott, were on hand.

It is the first time in the 24-year history of the association that twins were selected for the annual promotion campaign.

Postman Finds New Compost

BRADFORD, England (AP) — A Bradford postman decided to save time on his morning rounds by burying part of the mail in his back garden, a magistrate's court was told. The prosecutor said the letters seemed to have formed a "new type of compost."

Nixon Launches Fresh Attack On Free Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — On President Nixon's orders, the Justice Department is trying to draft legislation intended to strip away one of the news media's principal shields against libel suits by public officials or public figures.

The presidential move was disclosed by ranking White House officials, who said Nixon's objective was to give political candidates better defenses against slanderous or libelous campaign attacks.

As outlined by these officials in interviews, the White House plan is to present a proposed law intended to overcome a landmark 1964 Supreme Court decision granting newspapers virtual immunity against libel suits by public officials.

While some Justice Department lawyers and other libel attorneys question whether such legislation can overturn a Supreme Court decision, the move appears certain to kindle new controversy in Nixon's relations with the media.

And it could lead eventually to a historic legal confrontation on the Constitution's freedom of the press clause.

The President himself volunteered fleeting mention of his proposal in his Wednesday night news conference, but he didn't divulge his instructions to the Justice Department. Aides said he planned to make that disclosure Friday when he sends Congress his campaign reform package.

At the news conference, while responding to a question about his plan to regulate campaign financing, he added, "We believe candidates should have a right to defend themselves against false charges that are made during the campaign, whether by their opponents or by the press."

According to White House officials familiar with Nixon's views on the issue, the President believes the Supreme Court has gone too far in interpreting the Constitution to protect the media against libel suits by public officials and public figures.

Landing Was Tricky In Early Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the early days of aviation, bonfires guided pilots at night and in the daytime, and air traffic controllers directed Jennies and De Havillands to smooth landings by waving flags.

"It took a while to educate some pilots, and several times my deck chair near the end of the runway was knocked over by planes that strayed from the proper path," recalls Archie W. League, an aviation pioneer who directed traffic at the St. Louis airport.

MRS. CHARLES GERARD MATTHEWS

Miss Janet Elaine Carle Bride Of Charles Matthews

Miss Janet Elaine Carle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Carle, Route 2 Circleville, became the bride of Mr. Charles Gerard Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Matthews, Canton at noon, Nov. 24, in St. Joseph's Catholic Church of Circleville. Msgr. George Buchmann performed the double ring ceremony.

Mr. Thomas Sullivan, organist, presented a program of music preceding the ceremony. The altars were adorned with vases of bronze, gold, yellow and white pompon mums. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a circular skirted floor length gown in white satin faced rayon organza with a bodice of cotton Nottingham lace. The same lace trimmed the shepherdess sleeves and edged the mantilla. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of yellow daisy pompons with dried statice and starflowers and wore a gold heart shaped necklace centered with a pearl, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Rosemary Carle, sister of the bride, was dressed in a kelly green crepe knit princess styled gown trimmed with white Venice lace. A bow matching her gown held a green net veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of strawflowers and statice with orange ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Miss Donna Carle, sister of the bride; Miss Mary Matthews and Miss Nancy Matthews, sisters of the groom. They were gowned as the honor attendant in orange with orange net and bows and dark green ribbons on their matching bouquets. The attendants all wore royal crystal pins, gifts of the bride.

The Misses Suzanne and Amy Matthews, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Matthews of Circleville were flower girls. The little misses were dressed in green, yellow and orange floral print dresses of crepe trimmed with Venice lace.

Mr. John Matthews performed the duties of best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. Thomas A. Carle, brother of the bride, Mr. Robert Matthews, brother of the groom and Mr. Bryan Feathers, a friend of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a green double knit polyester dress and Mrs. Matthews chose a light blue knit dress. Corsages for both mothers were of yellow pompon mums.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The serving table was centered with a five tiered wedding cake surrounded with yellow, orange and green flowers, and flanked by two heart shaped cakes. The guest tables covered with white linen were centered with floral arrangements.

Hostesses were Miss Laureen Britt, Miss Sherrie Bungarner, Mrs. Carl Bungarner, Mrs. David Carle, Miss Debbie Dowler, Miss Mary Lake, Miss Peggy Lake and Miss Dianna Strittmatter. Mrs. Randy McCoy presided at the guest register.

For her going-away costume the bride wore a coordinating outfit of beige and brown knit slacks with a light pink silk blouse topped with a brown corduroy jacket. The couple now resides at Canton.

The bride is a graduate of Westfall High School and Columbus Business University. She was formerly employed by USS Chemicals.

The groom graduated from Central Catholic High School in Canton and attended Walsh College. He is associated with the Robert J. Matthews Company in Canton.

Chillicothe Firm Object Of Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has declined to investigate a dispute between the Asheboro, N.C., Chamber of Commerce and an Ohio firm which makes city directories, Rep. Ike F. Andrews, D-N.C., said today.

Andrews had asked Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe to investigate an allegation by a chamber official that the Mullin-Kille Co. of Chillicothe, Ohio had not made good on its contract to print city directories for Asheboro.

However, an assistant to Saxbe replied that the matter appeared to be "a private contract dispute" and not a matter for investigation by the Justice Department.

Andrews said he was disappointed that the Justice Department had declined to intervene in the matter, but expressed hope that the controversy could soon be settled.

In his letter to Saxbe, Andrews cited allegations made against Mullin-Kille Co. by Bob Croft, executive vice-president of the Greater Asheboro Chamber of Commerce. Among them were that some of the firm's salary checks to Asheboro residents had bounced, that many directories paid for in advance were not delivered when promised, and that the per-directory price of $125 was extremely high.

A stationary front that pushed across Ohio during the night touched off showers and thundershowers, some of them heavy. There were reports of pea-sized hail along with the rain.

By this morning, most of the shower activity was north of Ohio. Northern counties had cloudy skies while partly cloudy to clear skies were reported in the central and southern counties.

Temperatures ranged from the 60s south of the front to the upper 30s in parts of northwestern Ohio.

More showers and thundershowers were expected today in the north as the front begins an expected slow move toward Lake Erie. Central and southern Ohio were to have partly cloudy skies most of the day with a chance of thunderstorms during the afternoon.

Highs today were to range from the upper 50s along the lake to the upper 70s in the extreme south.

The threat of thundershowers continues tonight with lows in the 50s. Saturday was to be cooler with highs in the 50s to the 60s.

Red Foxx Seeks More Money

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Comedian Redd Foxx says reports that illness forced him to drop out of television's "Sanford and Son" show were "a lie."

Foxx said Tuesday in a taping for the Mike Douglas Show that he wanted a better salary, was disenchanted with working conditions and didn't want to revert to what he called "Amos 'n' Andy."

The Douglas show will be aired March 26.

The 51-year-old entertainer has missed four segments and is expected to be out the remainder of the season.

Lutherans See Way Open To Healing Schism

NEW YORK (AP) — Theological descendants of Martin Luther, the 16th century German priest who sparked the Protestant break from papal leadership, say conditions are ripe for restoring that connection in a new style now in sight.

The idea will startle many Christians, say a team of Lutheran scholars.

But they contend that under changed circumstances and understandings of the present, Lutheran "recognition of papal primacy is possible" and Lutheran churches should consider affirming it in behalf of united work for Christ.

That appeal to Lutherans from their theological representatives went out in the wake of last weekend's historic agreement by a joint U.S. Lutheran-Catholic commission that the hard lines of the old papal issue have dissolved.

It no longer is "a barrier to reconciliation," the commission said.

In addition to that landmark finding, both the 13 Lutheran and 13 Roman Catholic participants issued separate explanations to their own denominational folds to help them see the basis for the new outlook.

Calling it a "major advance" toward resolving a historically divisive issue, the Catholic participants said it could be a "prelude to a new relationship" between the churches, and urged their church deal with the new situation.

A Lutheran participant, the Rev. George A. Lindbeck, of Yale University, comments: "It is now up to the churches to indicate how far they want to go in implementing it."

So far, prior agreements by official Catholic-Lutheran and Catholic-Anglican (Episcopalian) theological teams on holy communion, the early creeds and the ministry, have not been acted on by the churches themselves.

Their leaders say the findings need first to be assimilated by ordinary members—a process the current separate reports sought to aid.

Even though founding Protestant reformers hurled such denunciations as "antichrist" at the papacy of their day because of the way it functioned with state power to impose its authority, the Lutheran experts point out:

"Today, after over four centuries of mutual suspicion and condemnation ... we need to remember that the earliest Lutherans hoped for a reform of the papacy precisely for the sake of seeing the unity of the church preserved."

Signs of such reform now are in evidence, including Catholicism's greater stress on Bible sources and shared collegiality in church government, putting the issue into a "new perspective," the Lutheran scholars say.

For example, Roman Catholic participants point out that in contemporary understanding, the Pope does not have the autocratic authority of a monarch, but his role is primarily as one who "serves" the church.

"We share the concern of our Lutheran partners in dialogue that safeguards should be provided against violation of Christian rights and freedom on the part of all ecclesiastical authority, papal included," the Catholic scholars say.

They suggest that while Lutherans presumably could not take the same position toward the Pope as currently held by Catholics, a distinct canonical status could be worked out so Lutherans could recognize the papacy as a symbol of unity, while remaining self-governing.

The Lutheran participants note that even in the era of the Protestant split with Rome, Lutheran thinkers conceded that in the New Testament, a preeminent role was held by the apostle Peter, a role from which the papacy evolved.

"Critical as we Lutherans have been in our evaluation of papal history," they say, "the existence of the papacy has in many ways been beneficial" in expressing and nurturing "visible unity of the church" in a world of divisive non-Christian forces.

The Lutheran group adds that a "renewed papacy," with Protestants in communion with it, "would in fact foster faithfulness to the gospel and truly exercise a Petrine function within the church."

presence of a nurse during a gynecological examination: An Irish doctor attributed it to the conceit of American women. I am a gynecologist who has practiced for 40 years, and I have always had a nurse present during examinations, but to my knowledge no law exists which requires it.

Physicians in other countries, not being fair game for any and all "suit happy" patients, may have a hard time understanding this necessary precaution. My colleagues in the U.S.A. do. And they had better!

Cable Addition Announced In Williamsport

Construction is under way on a major cable addition for growth in the northwest area of the Circleville exchange, General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

William D. Anderson, Circleville customer service manager, said the $91,100 project will enable upgrading present services and provide for future growth in the area.

Portions of the new cable will replace existing facilities for maintenance reasons. Where possible the new cable will be buried.

"Burying cable enhances the natural beauty of the landscape and reduces service outages from severe weather conditions and automobile accidents," Anderson said.

"Additions of this size are made according to needs indicated by our studies and forecasts," the manager added. "This enables the company to have equipment available for customers when needed."

The Circleville exchange serves 11,481 telephones in a 187.4 square-mile area of Pickaway and Fairfield counties.

Fraternal Meet In Columbus Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 19th annual convention of the Ohio Council of Fraternal and Service Organizations opened today in Columbus.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Get Off The Hook

DEAR ABBY: I was really surprised when Joyce asked me to be her maid of honor for her wedding. We've been classmates for years, but go with different kids. I can't understand why she chose me. She has many much closer friends. I accepted because I didn't know how to refuse, but now I'm sorry, and I'd like to get out of it.

I've already paid Joyce's mom for the dress, but it hasn't been altered. My mom and I gave a shower for Joyce. We invited her mom, sisters, aunts and friends, and they all acted like they were slumming. They openly snubbed my mom. I had a lump in my throat the whole time.

My family says if I am in the wedding party they will go to the church only to see me, but not to the reception. My dad says he won't go at all. They didn't invite my steady boyfriend to be my escort, so I won't have anybody to talk to at the reception. At the last minute should I say I have an illness in the family, and can't go? Or just tell them the truth?

DILEMMA D.

DEAR DILEMMA: Don't lie. Tell your friend that you have reconsidered and would like out. From what you say, she'll be as glad as you will to get off the hook.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my 70s and I need some advice. I have four daughters, and if I asked them, I'd get four different answers.

A few months ago I saw in the obituary column where the wife of an old boyfriend of mine died, so I waited for what I thought was a reasonable length of time and then I wrote him a letter and gave him my phone number and said it would be nice to talk to him sometime.

He called me up and we talked for a long time. In the conversation he said he'd like to see me again, but he hoped I wouldn't expect any "kid stuff" in the love-making department. I rather got the idea that he was trying to tell me that he was too old for that sort of thing. Well, I'm not, and if that is what he meant I don't want to waste any time on him as I don't have a whole lot of time left. How can I find out without being too blunt?

OLD BUT NOT TOO OLD

DEAR OLD: I think he was trying to tell you that as far as he was concerned, his love-making days were behind him. Whether they are is anybody's guess, but if he thinks they are, they are.

DEAR ABBY: With regard to your reference to the "law" requiring the County Board Grants 2 Two-Year Contracts

The Pickaway County Board of Education, in their regular meeting Thursday, extended a new two year contract to Mrs. Juanita Jahngien, school psychologist, and Mrs. Shirley Wylie, work-study coordinator, beginning August 1. Mrs. Jahngien and Mrs. Wylie are completing their first year with the county board.

Mrs. Karen Pick, speech and hearing therapist, now assigned to the Logan Elm School District was offered a one year contract for the school year 1974-75. Mrs. Pick was employed by the county board to replace Mrs. Laura Chapin in February of this year.

Superintendent Edward J. Martin discussed with the board the services now being received by the Pickaway County Schools from the special education regional project with the Franklin County Schools as compared to potential services to be received should Pickaway County become affiliated with the same project now serving Ross, Pike, and Scioto Counties. The board took no action since this is in the discussion stages.

The Board approved a stipend to be paid to Mrs. Barbara Distlehorst, Westfall; Mrs. Mary Bendycki, Teays Valley; and Mrs. Beverly Winner, Logan Elm to work on foreign language curriculum guide on March 16.

County and local board members were extended an invitation to participate in the Pickaway County Teachers' Institute, March 8.

The board's next regularly scheduled meeting will be April 4, at 1 p.m. in the county superintendent's office.

Rail Maintenance Attacked By Turk

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio testified Wednesday that railroads have ignored sub-standard tracks and put off maintenance.

Edmund J. Turk charged that railroad negligence caused most of the 371 derailments in Ohio in 1973.

Turk was testifying against a proposed railroad reorganization plan which would mean the abandonment of about 2,500 miles of track in the state.

"Widespread abandonments are not the total answer to Ohio's rail problems," Turk said.

"Selective abandonment of a few redundant and sparingly used lines together with a massive transfusion of funds to rejuvenate the many remaining lines could result in a viable means of transporting both people and freight in Ohio," he said.

Turk said 159 of Ohio's 371 derailments were caused by faulty track, while another 96 were caused by equipment failure. The derailments resulted in $842,000 damage to track and $3.9 million damage to equipment.

"Expenditure has repeatedly replaced planning," Turk said. "The railroad industry's past practice of deferred maintenance has had the effect of using tomorrow's profits to pay for yesterday's derailments."

Turk testified before an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the plan. The hearing began Monday and runs until the end of this week.

In other testimony Wednesday, Ohio's transportation director said the proposal contains several discrepancies and errors in its analysis of Ohio's rail traffic.

"While we realize that there may be some excess trackage in Ohio, the federal report in its present form would lead someone to the erroneous conclusion that 2,500 miles of trackage could be abandoned with little or no effect on rail service in our state," said J. Phillip Richley.

David C. Sweet, director of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, said the reorganization would be a major blow to many Ohio communities, he said. Sweet said several Ohio companies have already postponed or cancelled expansion plans because of the proposal.

"You are asking Ohio businessmen who selected rail transport because it is the best and cheapest way to move their products to find another way to ship 3.5 million tons of material," Sweet said.

"Even if they find another way, the demand will overburden Ohio's other transportation systems," he said.

Deny LBJ Tax Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — The late Lyndon B. Johnson claimed income tax deductions for no more than 200,000 of some 31 million documents he donated to the government, the chief of the LBJ Library says.

Library Administrator Harry Middleton denied a report that the former president probably took $10 million, and possibly $29 million, in tax deductions for gifts of predominantly official documents.

Historian and author M. B. Schnapper has said he has circumstantial evidence and confidential information indicating that Johnson took such deductions between 1965 and 1968.

But Middleton said Johnson deeded 200,000 papers to the General Services Administration in 1967 and 1968, but retained title to the bulk of his papers until his death in 1973.

His will deeded those papers, "including those reflecting his service in the Senate and as vice president and president, without any tax advantage being sought for his estate or his heirs," Middleton said in a telephone interview.

The first federally operated air traffic control center was established at Newark Airport under the Department of Commerce in the early 1930s.

Pricing Suit Cash Coming

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State agencies, school districts, housing authorities, cities, towns and villages may be eligible to share a $7.4 million antitrust settlement against seven gypsum wallboard companies, according to Ohio Atty. Gen. William J. Brown.

The U.S. District Court in San Francisco will accept claims until April 5 against the settlement on construction contracts signed between Jan. 1, 1966, and Dec. 31, 1967, Brown said Thursday.

Companies accused of price fixing and other antitrust violations are the United States Gypsum Co., National Gypsum Co., Kaiser Gypsum Co., Flintkote Co., Fibreboard Corp., Georgia-Pacific Corp. and Celotex Corp.

The settlement allows the companies to pay $7.4 million without admission of engaging in antitrust activity.

Brown said about 1,500 Ohio governmental entities should have received claim forms from the San Francisco court.

Library Clues On Sherlock Holmes

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto library board announced that it had bought 69 letters and seven postcards signed by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of the fictional detective Sherlock Holmes. The board, which spent $4,000 on the deal, now believes it has the world's best collection on material on Holmes and Conan Doyle.

Ellsberg Speaks At Wittenberg

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)— Daniel Ellsberg said Thursday night he wished a fair trial for six persons indicted in connection with the 1971 breakin of his psychiatrist's office. The former Pentagon researcher and think-tank expert spoke before some 800 persons at Wittenberg University.

His speech came a few hours after the indictments of John D. Erlichman, Charles W. Colson and four others for conspiring to violate the rights of Dr. Lewis J. Fielding of Los Angeles, Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

"They have earned their day in court," Ellsberg said. "I hope they get a fair trial."

Reye's Syndrome Cases Growing

DETROIT (AP) — "You can have a child one day, then within an eight-hour period — or like us in 64 hours — you no longer have a child."

These agonized words come from the mother of a 6-year-old boy who died recently from a disease called Reye's Syndrome that is cropping up with disturbing frequency this year in Michigan.

A sometimes fatal flu-related illness afflicting only children and teen-agers, Reye's Syndrome has killed 14 Michigan children already this year, almost twice the number of deaths during all of 1973.

"It is not my intent to scare people," said Mrs. Joel Bell of Mendon, Mich. "But because I have seen this disease which takes over so terribly fast and kills so terribly fast, I've got to tell you that I am one scared mother."

"Not just for my daughter, who is the only one I have now, but I'm scared for every child and every parent."

Thursday, it happened to 7-year-old Joseph Bargo of Sturgis, Mich., as it did to 13-year-old Mary Cook of Coldwater on Wednesday.

Medical authorities say Reye's syndrome is not contagious, but it is appearing at an unusual rate in Michigan.

Mrs. Bell's son, who died last September, was one of eight children who succumbed to the disease in Michigan in 1973. But already this year, 44 cases have been reported.

Since Dec. 15, 140 cases of either suspected or confirmed Reye's Syndrome in 21 states have been reported to the federal Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

UAW Issues Call For Work Return

LORDSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— United Auto Workers union leaders at the strikebound General Motors Corp. fabricating plant at Lordstown have issued a tentative call for a return to work Monday night pending settlement of a dispute over local issues.

However, the notice to striking members of UAW Local 1714 advised that "it may be necessary to have additional strikes."

Meanwhile, talks were to resume today in an effort to end the strike that has forced a shutdown of the Vega assembly line also.

"We think the large number of cases now is due to the fact that this is a big year for the Hong Kong flu, and Reye's Syndrome follows as a complication of this flu," says Dr. Joseph Baublis, associate professor of pediatrics and communicable diseases at the University of Michigan.

Hoping to help other parents protect their children, Mrs. Bell wrote a letter to The Associated Press urging parents to learn about the disease and what symptoms to look for so that "just maybe they could get their child to the hospital in time for help."

Doctors say the ailment usually occurs while children are recovering from infectious diseases such as influenza, measles or chickenpox, although its cause is unknown. They say it usually strikes one child in 2,000 hit with infectious diseases.

Symptoms of the disease include convulsions and severe, prolonged vomiting. This usually is followed by delirium, stupor and sometimes a deep coma. The disease frequently attacks and destroys the brain, liver and other organs.

"If I had known these things myself, I would have known that my son was very much near death at the time we ... took him to the hospital," Mrs. Bell said. "I thought we had caught it very fast but as it was, we hadn't."

"That's why I have to say to the public: Ask questions, learn what you can and help your own children.... It's a sad but true fact that most people don't get concerned until it happens to them."

Man Convicted In Doctor's Slaying

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Dennis Mitchell, 18, of Canton, was convicted of first-degree murder and armed robbery by a panel of three Stark County Common Pleas Court judges Thursday and sentenced to a life term in prison.

Mitchell, accused of the Dec. 27 slaying of Dr. Harold Schmuck, a local physician, had waived a jury trial.

Chisox Win Exhibition Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Chicago White Sox were the first winners and rookie Brian Downing the first hero as major league baseball's exhibition season opened Thursday. Downing grounded a single into left field with two outs and the bases loaded in the ninth inning to drive in two runs and give the Sox a 9-8 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Chicago had loaded the bases on a walk, an error and a single by Luis Alvarado. Jim Northrup rapped a two-run homer for the Tigers. The White Sox and the Tigers were the only teams in action Thursday, but everyone else plays over the weekend when the pre-season gets into full swing.

Atlanta slugger Hank Aaron, the subject of much controversy after the club announced he wouldn't start the team's opening series in Cincinnati, also will miss the club's first exhibition game against Los Angeles. "I talked to him and he feels he just isn't quite ready," explained Braves' Manager Eddie Mathews. Aaron has 713 career home runs, one short of Babe Ruth's all-time record. The Braves also said that catcher Paul Casanova will fly in from Venezuela today. Casanova is already four days late and will be fined $100 a day. Both Giants' outfielder Gary Matthews and Yankees' infielder Celerino Sanchez showed up in their respective camps after holdouts. Mathews, the National League's Rookie-of-the-Year last season, signed for an estimated $35,000, but was miffed because the club publicized his original demand of $50,000. "It was very embarrassing and it shouldn't have been done," said Mathews, adding, "But I'm not bitter. What's done is done." Sanchez signed for about $25,000. Baltimore General Manager Frank Cashen had less luck coming to terms with his troops and announced he will invoke the reserve clause on the team's four unsigned players.

"This is something this ballclub has never had to do before, but today I find myself forced to do it," declared Cashen. Cashen can now send the four — catcher Andy Etchebarren, outfielder Royle Tillman, and pitchers Bob Reynolds and Doyle Alexander — contracts, forcing them to report to spring training, where negotiations would continue. Should Cashen take no action by March 11, the players will become free agents. But that's not likely. On the injury front, Texas pitcher Ferguson Jenkins and Oakland third baseman Sal Bando were the main casualties. Jenkins was hospitalized with muscle spasms in his lower back and is expected to be sidelined for about five days. Bando was sent back to Oakland for examination of the sore middle finger on his right hand, injured Wednesday in batting practice. The injury is not believed serious.

OU, Dayton Seek Wins

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State closes its regular basketball season while Ohio University and Dayton search for National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament victories Saturday. The Buckeyes will use their one-guard offense again in seeking revenge at Illinois in a Big Ten Conference finale. Ohio University, the MidAmerican Conference champion, faces at-large Marquette in an NCAA Midwest Regional first round game at Terre Haute, Ind. Dayton, an at-large NCAA selection, makes the longest trip ever for a first round game in that tournament. The Flyers will travel 2,300 miles to Pocatello, Idaho, to face Los Angeles State in a Far West Regional first round contest. All other major Ohio college squads are through except National Invitation Tournament-bound Cincinnati and Toledo, the MAC runnerup going to the new Commissioners tournament.

Bowling Green, the thirdplace team in the MAC, still nurses hopes of landing one of the final spots in the NIT. The Falcons finished with a 15-11 overall mark. Ohio U. plays at 2:10 p.m., Ohio State at 3:05 p.m. and Dayton at 9:10 p.m. Fred Taylor, suffering through his worst coaching season, went to a 1-4 attack last week and the Buckeyes responded with triumphs over Northwestern and Indiana. The rematch — Illinois won the first meeting 75-73 — will decide last place in the conference. Ohio State, 8-15 overall and 3-10 in the league, is ninth and Illinois is last with a 2-11 league mark. "Jeff Schmidt and Rick Schmidt pretty much had their own way in the first game," Taylor said of the Illini stars. "We didn't play very well." Ohio Coach Jim Snyder called 22-4 Marquette the quickest team his 16-10 Bobcats will face this season, "Even quicker than UCLA." Snyder, preparing his seventh NCAA team, recalled a 73-49 tournament beating the Bobcats took from Marquette two years ago. "They stomped right on our heads," the Ohio mentor said. "They were quick then. Now they're even faster." The Bobcats have a 3-6 NCAA record. Dayton also is making its seventh NCAA appearance. The Flyers are 8-7 in the tournament, including a national runnerup finish to UCLA in 1967. "Size-wise, it should be a pretty even match," Coach Don Donohoe said of his Flyers' first-ever meeting with Los Angeles State. The Diablos, 17-9, finished second in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association behind ineligible Long Beach State. The Flyers have won six games in a row, including a 97-82 upset of second-ranked Notre Dame Monday night. "The Notre Dame victory," Donohoe said, "showed our kids they can beat anybody if they play hard. We have momentum going, too."

Heard, Aaron Share Doral Golf Lead

MIAMI (AP) "Just like a walk in the park," Jerry Heard said. "The more you win, the easier it seems." "Coming off a win, it's easy to play good. The pressure is off. I was under pressure last week — I really wanted to win that one bad. I needed a win now." Heard, who took the Citrus Open title in Orlando, Fla. last Sunday, had just clipped seven strokes off par with his 65 — his sixth consecutive round in the 60s — and had a share of the lead with Masters champion Tommy Aaron in the first round of the $150,000 Doral-Eastern Open Golf Tournament. Little Buddy Allin was one more stroke back with a 66 as the 7,065-yard Blue Monster course at the Doral Country Club yielded the lowest opening-round scoring in the 13 year history of this event. Five players, led by defending champion Lee Trevino, were at 67. Also at that figure were Orville Moody, Bunky Henry and a pair of Australian veterans, Bruce Crampton and Bruce Devlin. Tom Weiskopf and 61-year-old Sam Snead were in a large group at 69 while pre-tourney favorite Jack Nicklaus slipped to a 71 with bogeys on three of his last seven holes. Arnold Palmer and Johnny Miller, winner of three titles and more than $100,000 already this season, are not competing. And Heard, a close friend of Miller's, admittedly is thinking of duplicating his sweep of three titles in a row. "If I keep playing like this, I've got a good shot at winning here. And if I win here, I've got a good shot at winning next week, too." "When you're playing this good, you think you're never gonna play bad again."

Notre Dame Faces Austin In Tourney

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Second-ranked Notre Dame, stumbling in their last regulation game, tries to regain their composure against Austin Peay Saturday in Saturday's first round of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Midwest regional basketball tournament. Ninth-ranked Marquette and Mid-American Conference champ Ohio University battle in the first game of the doubleheader beginning at 1:10 p.m. EDT. The Irish Monday night were defeated 97-82 by a Dayton team which ended the Irish 12-game winning streak and closed their regular season with a 24-2 mark. The only other loss was a 94-75 triumph by UCLA, whom Notre Dame had beaten earlier. It the most regular season victories for a Notre Dame team since the 1908-09 team went 33-7. Austin Peay—the Ohio Valley Conference co-champion—is no slouch, either. Led by sophomore Fly Williams who is averaging 27.5 a game, the Governors reached Terre Haute on a

17-9 season record and a 10-4 conference mark, including a pair of victories over co-titlist Morehead State. Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps says his players are ready to forget about the Dayton game and concentrate on Austin Peay. "This is what we've been working for all season long," said Phelps. "We've been in some tough battles at home and on the road and I think we'll be better off for them." Of their first foe, Phelps said, "Austin Peay is a team with excellent quickness. Williams is one of the great college players in the nation and sophomore guard Danny Odums is a good outside shooter." "This team is capable of the big game as it proved in last year's NCAA by beating Jacksonville in the first round, then taking Kentucky into overtime before losing." Governor Coach Lake Kelly said, "I'm sure the loss to Dayton will make Notre Dame anxious to bounce back strong. It certainly didn't help us."

Pacific 8 Loop Finale Saturday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Bob Boyd of Southern California says his Trojans are overshadowed by the success of cross-town rival UCLA. But John Wooden casts a spotlight on the Trojans and sees no real weakness. "Their talent has been overlooked a little bit," UCLA Coach Wooden said of the Trojans, who stand in the way of the Bruins' bid for an unprecedented eighth consecutive national basketball championship. Third-ranked UCLA and seventh-rated USC collide Saturday night at the Sports Arena to decide the Pacific-8 Conference title and who advances to NCAA playoffs. Both are 22-3 for the season, 11-2 in the Pac8. "I've been quite high on Danny Anderson all along," Wooden said of USC's senior guard. "They have other players we tried to recruit. People think maybe they're at USC because we didn't want them. That's not true." What impresses Wooden most about USC, a team the Bruins beat 65-54 with a second-half rally. "They have great balance," said Wooden. "Of course, I'm a nut on balance; I'm always looking for balance — balance and quickness. They are very strong inside and outside, with their quick guards. They are strong offensively and defensively." "I don't really believe there's a real weakness in their team. Certainly there's no weakness in talent."

Vikings Face Mohawk In District Finals

The talent laden Vikings of Teays Valley (19-2) will clash with powerful Mohawk (17-3) 9 p.m. tonight in the District AA lower bracket finals at the Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus. The winner will meet the Cincinnati winner in the Regionals at the University of Dayton 9:30 p.m. March 15. In tonight's opening game at 7 p.m., it will be Ready (10-11) facing Hartley (16-5) in the upper bracket finals. The winner will face the Steubenville upper bracket winner in the Regional at Ohio University 9:30 p.m. March 15. Excitement should run rampant when the poised Vikings send their balanced point-getting offense against the explosive run and shoot game of the Mohawks. Both squads can scorch the nets and should keep the lights on the scoreboard burning all night. "We look for a real fine game," Teays Valley coach Bob Hoover, commented, "as both teams have fine talent and will come to play." NCAA Track Clash Features Waldrop DETROIT (AP) — Sizzling miler Tony Waldrop of North Carolina, a whopping collection of seven-foot high jumpers and an expected wide-open team title battle highlight the NCAA Indoor Track Championships starting today. Waldrop, who has shattered the four-minute barrier six straight times this season, will do his stuff at the meet's opening session in Cobo Arena as he confronts a so-so field in the trials for the mile finals on Saturday's windup program.

Warriors Edge Bucks

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer
Gimpy Golden State, a resting place for the National Basketball Association's walking wounded, still has at least one thing going for it — Rick Barry. Barry, currently the NBA's hottest hand, scored 31 points including the game-winner at the buzzer Thursday night to give the Warriors a 97-95 victory over the peerless Milwaukee Bucks. In his past six games, Barry has shot at a 34.5-point clip. "It took an extra effort by everybody to pull off a big win," Barry said, "but the big factor now is whether Cazzie (Russell) and Nate (Thurmond) are going to be able to play for us." Thurmond left the game in the second quarter after aggravating an arch that's cutting into his playing time. In the only other NBA game, the Boston Celtics edged the Phoenix Suns 99-97. In the American Basketball Association, San Antonio got by Carolina 98-90, Kentucky smothered Virginia 103-89, and the New York Nets beat the Denver Rockets 114-100.

Morrison Goes To Chargers

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals sent running back Reece Morrison to the San Diego Chargers Thursday, but there was a dispute over whether it was a sale or trade. The Chargers said it was a "make good" after quarterback Virgil Carter refused to sign with them after being traded by Cincinnati. Carter jumped to Chicago Fire of the World Football League. Mike Brown, assistant general manager of the Bengals, said it was a routine sale. Brown said the Bengals felt the move would give Morrison a chance to play.

Gene Woodling led the New York Yankees with six hits in their four-game sweep over the 1950 Philadelphia Phillies. It was the last time the Phillies got into the classic.

Anything that is an improvement in the athletic programs of the schools in Pickaway County is a step in the right direction for most everyone in the community and deserves their backing. We received a letter from Vic Pontius, head baseball coach at Logan Elm, which he had sent to various groups in the area. Here is the letter in its entirety: Gentlemen: In an effort to improve our baseball facilities and program at Logan Elm High School we have decided to install a chain link outfield fence to replace the snow fence borrowed from the State Highway Department. However, due to inadequate school and Booster Club budgets for financing the project, we have been forced to look for other sources of financial support. Following the lead of some other high schools and a number of summer league programs, we are contacting local businesses for help with the project in exchange for advertising. We are hoping that enough of you will pledge your financial support so that we may proceed with the installation. The first estimate we have received as to the cost of the 550 feet of fence ($1784.37 completely installed, including concrete and labor) indicates that we will need 55 sponsors of ten-foot sections at $30 per section, or, proportionately more sponsors if some sponsors prefer to purchase only half a section at $15. In exchange for the donation an advertisement sign will be installed on the fence, facing inward toward the bleachers. It is hoped that the sponsor will furnish an appropriate sign for us to install; however, if none is available, we will have one made, at an additional cost to the sponsor (We contacted a local firm and were told that a sign approximately 4' x 4' with lettering would cost $20.) We are again holding a Pickaway County Baseball Tournament here at Logan Elm this spring, and, in addition to our spring and summer high school games, there are many little league, pony league, and softball games played on the diamond during the summer months. We are proud of the growth of our baseball program here, especially in the last few years. In the last two years our varsity teams have a combined record of 39 wins and only 5 losses. We hope that you will see fit to help us continue to improve our program with your donation. Enclosed is a self-addressed, stamped post card for your convenience in replying. Your prompt reply will be appreciated, as we wish to know as soon as possible whether we should proceed with the project. If enough pledges are received to cover the cost of the project, we will contact each business which indicates its support and complete the arrangements. Thank you for your consideration. Sincerely yours, Vic Pontius Logan Elm Baseball Coach Our "fearless" forecast—We've packed our bag because we don't want to be late when the Teays Valley Vikings take us to Dayton. Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

If you need a car that's roomy and comfortable at an affordable price, Impala is a sensible buy.

Chevrolet

Not every family can fit into one of today's popular small cars. Because of your family's size or your job, it may make sense to own a full-size car like the Chevrolet Impala with a roomy interior that holds six comfortably.

If you sometimes haul bulky objects, you'll appreciate Impala's 18 cubic feet of trunk space. And to make the least of rough roads, Impala has Full Coil spring suspension, strategically placed rubber body mounts and extensive sound insulating.

For extra protection, there are side guard door beams and a Cargo-Guard luggage compartment. And to make driving more pleasant, Impala comes with such standard features as Turbo Hydra-matic transmission, power front disc/rear drum brakes and variable-ratio power steering.

Come in and let us show you why it makes sense to buy a reasonably-priced Impala, the car that's been the nation's Number One seller for 14 years. And why it makes sense to buy it from us.

Maryland Reaches AC Semifinals

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer
Maryland cruised into the semifinals of the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament Thursday night and Terrapins Coach Lefty Driesell liked what he saw.

"Our players think they can beat anyone in this tournament," declared Driesell after his team's 85-66 rout of Duke. "We're ready for anyone."

The Terps, ranked fourth nationally, meet North Carolina, rated sixth, tonight in one ACC semi. North Carolina State, ranked No. 1, goes against Virginia in the other semi. North Carolina eliminated Wake Forest 76-62 and Virginia got by Clemson 68-63 in other first-round games.

North Carolina State drew a bye. John Lucas, Tom McMillen and Len Elmore were the main ingredients in the Maryland victory. Lucas had 20 points, McMillen 19 points and 13 rebounds, and Elmore 16 points and 17 rebounds. The Terps raced to 42-26 halftime lead and coasted to their 22nd win against four losses.

North Carolina Coach Dean Smith was pleased with his club's effort but wary of Maryland.

The Tarheels, also 22-4, were led by Darrell Elston with 21 points and Bobby Jones with 15 points and 12 rebounds.

Gus Gerard scored 30 points and Wally Walker 22 to help Virginia past Clemson.

The ACC finals will be played Saturday night with the winner getting an NCAA Tournament bid.

The NCAA regionals also get underway Saturday. Penn meets Providence, St. Joseph's, Pa., faces Pittsburgh and Furman plays South Carolina in the East; Notre Dame goes against Austin Peay and Ohio University plays Marquette in the Midwest; Oral Roberts meets Syracuse and Texas faces Creighton in the Midwest; and Los Angeles State takes on Dayton and Idaho State meets New Mexico in the West.

Also, the Pacific Eight championship will be decided Saturday night when UCLA visits Southern California.

No. 18 Louisville was the only other top 20 team in action, the Cardinals dumping Detroit 89-74. Junior Bridgeman scored 22 points for the NCAA-bound winners who are 21-5.

Lionel Billingy collected 19 points and 13 rebounds to lead Duquesne past Xavier of Ohio 73-4. It was the final game for Dukes Coach Red Manning who has been named athletic director. He retires after 16 years with a 247-138 record.

Also, Houston crushed Rice 107-62, and, in a double header at Madison Square Garden, Manhattan beat Fordham 81-76 and Seton Hall outlasted St. Peter's, N.J., 94-90 in double overtime to earn a bid to the National Invitation Tournament.

owner, he's not the nicest guy in the world, and that's just the way Blackman wants it.

Blackman is a player's agent: "a percentage man." His job is to grind out the intricate details of a contract before the player he represents makes his first tackle, hits his first home run, or scores his first basket. It isn't an easy job.

The first problem involved, says Blackman, is selling a young athlete on the concept of agent representation. "To begin with, there's a lack of a professional and business background. The kid feels that professional football is just a continuation of college football, where everything is handed to you on a silver platter but you get a salary," Blackman said.

"The idea that he's going into a profit and loss business is not known to him and the fact that the owners won't offer him a fair contract is a startling one."

Startling, but some believe it is true. "If the owner could get the player for a dollar a year, he'd love to do just that—make no mistake about it," Blackman said. "But that's a tough thing to explain, because the majority of players entering the pro ranks would play for a dollar a year when it comes down to nuts and bolts."

"The teams know this. Hold out long enough and the player will sign because he wants to play pro ball. What else is he going to do?"

Before a negotiation begins Blackman has started to work. He has, by that time, decided which athletes to solicit after studying reports on the player's prowess and estimating his chances of making a professional team.

"Sure, there's plenty of publicity in having a first-round draft choice, but if I know a player's going to be drafted second, third, even fourth and has a good chance of making the team, I'll go after him. Even though he might not get the high bonus, if he makes the team, that's really where I make my money," Blackman says.

He works on a percentage basis and admits honestly that the more money he gets for his client means the more money he makes for himself.

"I could charge a flat fee, but there is an incentive for me to do well for my client because my compensation is tied in to his well-being. It protects the player better than anything else. I'll fight for him. I'm not about to give up."

There is plenty of fighting to be done; and somebody has to lose. It isn't often Blackman.

"When you see that in the papers, you smell a rat. Anytime you see a GM saying, 'What a gentleman that guy is,' I'd feel I wasn't doing my job," Blackman says.

"That doesn't mean I don't respect the fact that the general manager has a job to do, and I'm sure he respects me. But there's no way negotiations are going to end up with public compliments. When it ends that way, you know the agent got a fair deal for his client, but didn't put in the time and thought and the tactics that get a deal more slanted towards his client."

So Blackman doesn't make friends easily in front offices around the country. He makes money for his athletes and money for himself. That's his business. But the time before an agreement is reached with his client can be almost as much of a battle as the negotiations with the general manager.

"Take football, for instance. A lot of college coaches say to the kids, 'Don't be represented. We'll get you a local alumnus or a local lawyer. This guy Blackman is all the way over in New York; what does he care about Topeka Kan., or Boise, Idaho? He's just in it for the buck.'"

"But when has this guy ever signed a contract? He doesn't even know what it is at this time of his life. He doesn't know what it's like to negotiate," Blackman says.

Thus, he must sit down with his player before money is discussed. "When I go visit a player, one of the things I tell him is how tough negotiations are. The club knows he wants to play ball and that they have him where they want him. Especially if there's no other league competing for his services."

"So I say, 'If you're not going to be tough, I can't do a job for you.' If the kid says, 'Look, I don't want to make any waves, I just want to play ball,' or if I feel a kid's going to crack under the pressure, I won't represent him," Blackman says.

"You hope he's going to be drafted high or make the team, but the most important part is 'up here.'" Blackman pointed to his balding head, where the figures, the tactics and experience of 10 years in the business have been etched.

If Blackman doesn't take the case, more often than not it's the player's loss. And, of course, the owner's gain.

The Philadelphia Flyers don't have the Detroit Red Wings to kick around anymore.

"We sure hate to see them go," said the Flyers Bobby Clarke. Wish they would come in here three or four more times, then maybe it would be easier for us to win the division title."

The Flyers, holding a fourpoint lead over the secondplace Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League's West Division, swept the fivegame season series against Detroit Thursday night with a 6-1 victory over the Red Wings.

The Flyers outscored the Wings 30-7 this season.

Elsewhere in the NHL, the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Pittsburgh Penguins played to a 2-2 tie and the Los Angeles Kings downed the Chicago Black Hawks 3-2.

In the World Hockey Association, the Chicago Cougars edged the Quebec Nordiques 3-2 and the Cleveland Crusaders beat the Vancouver Blazers 4-2.

Bicentennial Coin Designs Chosen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A colonial drummer boy, Independence Hall and a Liberty Bell-Moon combination were announced today as choices for designs for the nation's 1976 Bicentennial coins.

The coins — the dollar, half dollar and quarter — are scheduled to be ready for circulation early next year. They will carry the double date 1776-1976 to mark the United States' 200th anniversary of independence.

The new designs will be on the reverse sides of the coins. The fronts will remain the same as now, except for the change in date.

Cash awards of $5,000 each are being made to the persons submitting the winning designs. They are:

—Jack L. Ahr of Arlington Heights, Ill., who designed the colonial drummer boy that will appear on the back of the quarter.

—Seth G. Huntington of Minneapolis, who designed the outline of Independence Hall that will appear on the back of the half dollar.

—Dennis R. Williams of Columbus, Ohio, who designed the combination of a Liberty Bell superimposed on the moon that will be on the back of the dollar coin.

Williams, 22, is a student majoring in sculpture at Columbus College of Art and Design. He came up with the winning design while at work on a class assignment.

Dozens of proposed designs were submitted in a contest that was held as part of the nation's bicentennial observance. Final selections were made by Treasury Secretary George P.

Criminal Costs Dispersed By State Auditor

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson announced the distribution of criminal costs subsidies to 67 county clerks of court for the month of February. A total of $177,533.12 was dispersed ranging from $39.70 to Union County to $38,608.75 to Trumbull County.

Pickaway County's share of money allocated was $2,561.20. The state pays on a monthly basis for the successful prosecution and imprisonment of indigent persons convicted of felony crimes under the criminal costs subsidy program.

Shultz and Director Mary Brooks of the U.S. Mint.

Congress has provided that the coins with the special designs should be produced at least through 1976, and longer if the secretary of the treasury wishes.

In addition to coins for general circulation, the Mint also will issue 45 million special silver-clad coins on or after July 4, 1975, and at a price to be determined later.

Persons wishing to be placed on the government's mailing list to receive information on how to obtain the silver-clad coins should write to the Bureau of the Mint, 55 Mint Street, San Francisco, 94175.

Hear More Rail Service Arguments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton development corporation representative and a Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce delegate were expected to join small city spokesmen today in saying a proposed federal reorganization of Eastern railways would put a new squeeze on business.

Witnesses at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing Thursday charged that eliminating what the secretary of transportation calls "excess" rail lines would stifle growth, add to growing unemployment problems and aggravate the fuel shortage.

A Yellow Springs newspaper editor said the proposal would force more goods to be trucked and would add to road maintenance problems. He also said it would cut off growth in sparsely-settled towns.

Editor Keith Howard said this would deny persons in densely-populated areas the chance to move to rural areas. He speculated that this, in turn, might drive urban crime rates even higher.

A Holmes County attorney, David Nobles, who said he had lost two court cases against rail abandonments, told the hearing examiner, "an undersupply of imaginative management" put the railroads in their slump.

Steel Shortage Curbs Drilling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's oil and gas industry has been urged to increase drilling activity to avert a state fuel crisis, but finds itself unable to comply because of a steel shortage.

With the sharp rise in crude oil prices, oil production in Ohio should be booming. Instead, the industry showed a decline last year of more than a half million barrels from 1972.

G. Lyman Dawe, director of the state's Oil and Gas Division, told the Ohio Oil and Gas Association's annual meeting Thursday that oil producers must increase drilling activity in an effort to make Ohio less dependent on oil from other states.

But Kirk Jordan, association vice president, said independent operators are having difficulty obtaining enough steel to even maintain current production.

A number of planned wells already have been canceled, Jordan said. By the end of the year the shortage could cause some wells to shut down, he added.

Jordan said the association suspects that steel companies are giving the major oil companies priority on lightweight tubular steel deliveries. The association is investigating possible legal action against steel manufacturers as a possible remedy, he said.

The association joined the Independent Petroleum Association of America in their support of President Nixon's veto of a congressional attempt to roll back fuel prices, contained in the emergency energy bill.

C. John Miller, president of the petroleum association, said, "I think there was a recognition that a veto was coming. No one is feeling too bad about the veto, including the sponsors."

Miller accused Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., a sponsor of the bill, of using the legislation to boost his bid for the Presidency.

The price of interstate natural gas has been frozen at the wellhead for 17 years, Miller said.

While the cost of drilling a well doubled from 1964 to 1972, he said, the cost of a barrel of gasoline dropped 50 cents over the same period in adjusted

Metzenbaum voted for the measure and Taft against.

By CONNIE FORREST

The 1974 track season will get under way next Thursday when the team will travel to Newark. The track men have been running and getting in shape at practices for the last month.

Clubs donating money for the porta pits so far have been Student Council, $300; Key Club, $500; and the Stodge Club, $300.

Band Rules Set For Indy Trip

By JOHN DOWLER

The Circleville High School Tiger Marching Band, who will be attending the Indianapolis "500" Festival May 25-26, must respect the rules set up by the Indianapolis "500" Association for the parade.

They must be fully uniformed and report to the staging area at least 45 minutes before the parade. The band then marches the 2.8 mile parade. While doing this, they maintain a forward motion of approximately three miles per hour or 120 beats per minute.

They may devise a parade routine, but it cannot hinder the flow of the parade.

The Tigers will be housed in dormitories at the Indiana State Fairgrounds.

Director Gary Dean stated, "An exact music program is being compiled, and I know that when the time comes we'll be more than ready."

"We are somewhat handicapped now due to the fact that we have not received information of the exact widths of the parade route. When that information is received, we will begin working toward preparing our block parade band."

Holveck Sisters Join CHS Ranks

LINDA AND SUSAN HOLVECK

By SUSAN ESTES

Two avid ski enthusiasts have joined the ranks of CHS students this year. Linda and Susan Holveck and the rest of their family have traveled all over the eastern coast skiing. Last year they took a skiing trip to Switzerland.

The Holvecks moved to Circleville from Russel, Ky. They now reside at 580 Oakland Terrace with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holveck. Both Linda and Susan are active members of the St. Phillip's Episcopal Church youth group.

Susan is also a member of Senior Scouts. She likes to sew and makes most of her own clothes. Susan, a junior, was a member of the Beta Club, an honor society at Russel High School.

"It took a while to get used to the idea of exams and six week periods," was Linda's comment about the school, "but the kids are much friendlier than where I used to live." Linda, a sophomore, is very interested in art and enjoys oil painting.

The goal for the whole track team will be to win the league meet which will be at home this year. There are eight other teams participating in the event, with Unioto being one of the toughest teams. The sectional meet will also be held at Circleville on May 9 and 11.

DALE IMLER

By TAMMY MILLER

"It helps you by showing you how to meet other people and how to act on the job," commented senior Dale Imler on the DECA program.

Dale lives at 161 W. Union St. with his mother, Mrs. Helen Imler. He enjoys small cars, football, motorcycles and paychecks.

Dale is employed by Pickaway Grain, where he averages 24 hours weekly. "I work during the morning hours and have my classes during the afternoon," he stated. "This is one of the advantages of having two DE programs at CHS."

Dale said that his job has taught him to get along with all kinds of customers without losing his temper.

Concerning his future plans, he stated, "I plan to continue working at Pickaway Grain, and, if I have an opportunity, I may study to become a game warden."

Cheerleading Tryouts Set For April 1

By CINDY SIMS

Smiling, yelling and being peppy are the three most important things when trying out for cheerleader.

The 1974 reserve and varsity cheerleading tryouts are April 1. Practices will begin Monday at the high school. The cheers will be taught by the six senior cheerleaders. Practices will also be held on March 18, 20, 25 and 27.

Girls trying out for cheerleader should begin practicing cheer motions, jumps, cartwheels and splits and should be making up a cheer of their own. All practices will begin at 3:45 p.m. and last until 4:45 p.m.

All girls wanting to tryout for reserve cheerleader must currently be freshmen. Sophomores and juniors will be trying out for varsity positions. Each squad will consist of seven girls.

Miss Dee Grandstaff, cheerleading advisor, stated, "I encourage as many girls to go out as possible. The judges will be from Columbus and will not know previous cheerleaders. This is the best way I know. I would like to wish all the girls the best of luck."

Latin Club Invited To Convention

The Circleville High School Olympian Council, (Latin Club), is attending the Ohio Junior Classical League Convention in Columbus tonight and tomorrow.

MISS PAULA REID

New Teacher Interviewed

By SHERI SMITH

"I want to help my students develop a respect for other people, other's property, and for themselves," said Miss Paula Reid.

Miss Reid is the new intensive instruction teacher at Nicholas Drive School. She teaches third, fourth and fifth grade level students.

Before moving to Circleville, she attended Ohio University where she earned a bachelor of science degree in elementary education.

Formerly from Toledo, she now resides at 144 Lewis Ave. In her free time she enjoys swimming, bicycling, sewing and playing the guitar.

Miss Reid says that the intensive instruction class is for those students with average or above average intelligence, who, for various reasons are not succeeding in the regular classroom. There are normally ten children in a class, and each child is given individual and small group instruction. Eventually the children are phased back into the regular classroom.

Miss Reid chose the Circleville area because of the location, and she plans to remain here and continue teaching the intensive instruction classes. She hopes to begin working on her master's degree in learning disabilities.

She says, "The progress made by my students in just half a year is very rewarding."

This is a follow-up to the Muscular Dystrophy telethon, held every Labor Day weekend. The national chairman is Jerry Lewis. Mrs. Richard Nixon is the honorary chairwoman.

"The theme for this year's drive is Shamrocks Against Dystrophy," according to Mrs. Lynn Kraus, the SOS advisor. The money will be used by the MDAA to support more than 130 research centers fighting against this crippling disease.

Goldwater's Son Urges GOP Push

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. Barry Goldwater Jr., R-Calif., Thursday night told Republicans to go on the offensive in upcoming congressional elections.

"The Democrats have only one issue in the 1974 elections—Watergate—but it's their only issue," he told a crowd of 600 at the Butler County Lincoln Day Dinner fund raiser.

"We in Washington share your disappointment with the election in Cincinnati," Goldwater said.

Democrats took the 1st Ohio Congressional District Tuesday in a special election.

"No doubt Watergate will be an issue in the 1974 elections, but I wouldn't say that the Cincinnati election or other elections can determine what the implication will be," Goldwater said.

"We can't allow Watergate to drive Republicans to the wall. It will be a factor only if we allow it to be a factor," he added.

Seek To Free School Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to force distribution of $2.5 million in impounded state public school funds will be introduced next week, a state legislator said today.

Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perryburg, minority leader of the House, said the bill would be in addition to legal action seeking release of the funds.

Gov. John J. Gilligan impounded the aid funds for elementary and secondary schools as part of an austerity program in 1971.

"We felt the withholding of state school funds in 1971 was unnecessary and was a politically inspired pressure tactic only," Kurfess told a news conference. He was joined at the conference by Reps. Frederick R. Young, R-30 Dayton, and Frank H. Mayfield, Jr. R-65 Cincinnati.

The actual amount impounded was $2.3 million. Kurfess said 30 months of interest at 6 per cent has raised it to $2.5 million.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A fine day for teamwork. Many useful ideas will result from an exchange of views with associates. Some good news indicated in the p.m.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Don't let surface glitter beguile you now. Search for facts before accepting any proposition—no matter how rosy it sounds.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A good day for attaining one of your cherished goals. Someone behind the scenes is working in your interest.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may not size up situations as accurately as usual. Better double-check! Try to ascertain if certain tensions exist—which you COULD clear up.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Discretion and secrecy may be your most important tools if you are aiming at some unusual objective. Don't telegraph your moves.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Hunches sometimes warn when not to speak or act but are often ignored. Better pay attention to them, and to the suggestions of others now.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Aspects fairly bright, but there may be hidden snags, conditions with which to reckon carefully. No jumping to conclusions! Hear others out fully.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): A time for review—to find missing links, details hidden to the casual eye, to change activities that have gone off course.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Strategy and common sense will be the biggest factors in making a successful day. THINK your way through obstacles.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Watch the budget now. Avoid a tendency to overspend on nonessentials. Trying to "keep up with the Joneses" is not only impractical but futile.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Try a strategy that worked in the past if a new one is not producing. The right start and "follow-through" will keep you master of all situations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): An excellent period for inventions, new ideas, new methods and means of approach, making adjustments and dealing in issues pertaining to the future.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely talented individual but sometimes have doubts about your abilities and need encouragement to prod you on to the success which CAN be yours. You are highly imaginative, intellectually inclined, but hypersensitive at times. Try to develop self-confidence and a more philosophical attitude when things are not to your liking. You are especially suited to science, the arts, invention and the educational field. Audubon Society Wades In

NEW YORK (AP)—A government program to clear river banks of trees and plants like cottonwood and mesquite is being attacked by the National Audubon Society as ill-conceived and hamfisted.

The theory is that killing such vegetation will keep it from using up water that might be used otherwise for irrigation.

"However," says the society, "there has been no conclusive study or even tangible evidence that removing the (long-rooted, water-drawing) trees and plants increases the flow of water in the river."

"On the contrary, the tight web of the root matrices of these plants holds in place the porous gravels and rocks through which water can flow several feet beneath the arid surface. The moisture-bearing leaves maintain a higher relative humidity over the water surface than is usual in trees where there are no trees, thus reducing evaporation. The plants act as windbreaks along the river banks, cutting down the force of hot, dry winds which also cause high evaporation. And, of course, the trees and underbrush offer valuable cover for wildlife."

In spite of such arguments, the government offers increased water rights or cash to farmers for cleaning up the vegetation.

Ranch Donated For Wildlife

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Fish and Wildlife Service has accepted the gift of a 220,000-acre ranch 65 miles south of Albuquerque, N.M., the largest tract ever donated as a wildlife refuge. The donor was the Campbell Family Foundation of Albuquerque.

Lying on both banks of the Rio Grande River and stretching into the desert highlands, the tract is said to be one of the last unspoiled desert grassland and brushland complexes in the valley.

A-C Students Raise $801.26

The Heart Fund Drive has been taken seriously by Amanda-Clearcreek High School Students. Since 1971, a heart fund queen candidate from Amanda-Clearcreek has won the Fairfield County Heart Fund Queen Contest. This year was no exception, the students collected $801.26 for the heart fund drive. This by the way was $300.00 more than last year.

This year was special at Amanda-Clearcreek. The students were bound and determined to win it in memory of their beloved teacher and Athletic Director, Kermit L. McCafferty, who died of a heart attack on the Jan. 11 this year.

The project is run entirely by the student council. The first step is competition among the class candidates. This year's senior class has won it two years in a row. After one class candidate wins the school then sponsors bake sales, talent show, student Council — faculty basketball game and the girls basketball team played for the junior high.

The student's really got behind their candidate and ran it entirely. They are very proud they have been able to raise so much money for the Heart Fund. In four years, the Amanda-Clearcreek students have raised $1921.33. This is especially noteworthy since the communities that send their children to Amanda and Stoutsville are small farming communities. They have always backed the heart fund, but when this disease hit so close to home and took Mr. McCafferty, the students realized how important it was.

11 More U.S. Bodies In Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam will turn over to the United States next Wednesday the remains of the last 11 American prisoners who died in captivity during the war, the United States Embassy announced.

This will account for the remains of all 23 prisoners whom Hanoi said died in captivity. Two days ago, North Vietnam turned over the remains of 12 Americans.

But the United States says North Vietnam still holds the body of one B52 crewman reported to have died in the crash of his plane.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said Wednesday's schedule would be similar to that carried out two days ago.

Twelve silver-colored metal caskets draped with new American flags were flown from Hanoi on a U.S. C130 transport to U Tapao Air Base in southern Thailand and taken to the Army's central identification laboratory for positive identification.

Military officials declined to estimate how long it would take before the studies are completed, families and the public are notified and the remains are sent to the United States for burial.

Serious Disease Said Declining

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Center for Disease Control says the peak has apparently passed on reports of Reye's Syndrome, a mysterious malady which strikes down young children and teen-agers.

The agency, a branch of the U.S. Public Health Service, says more than 140 cases have been reported in 21 states since Dec. 15. Michigan reported the most cases, 27, followed by Ohio with 15 and Wisconsin with 14.

But the CDC said the number of reports of the disease began to slow down last week.

Arabs Disagree On Oil Meet

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The Arab oil countries still have not agreed where and when their oil ministers will meet to take up Egypt's proposal that they lift their embargo on shipments to the United States, an official of the Egyptian oil ministry said Thursday night.

The official said the Arab governments were holding last-minute consultations to set a time and place for the meeting.

The meeting was originally scheduled for Feb. 14 in Tripoli, Libya. But Egyptian President Anwar Sadat obtained a postponement so he could do more lobbying for his proposal to end the restrictions against the United States.

Egypt said this week that the meeting would be held Sunday and had been shifted to Cairo because an industrial fair in Tripoli made hotel accommodations scarce in the Libyan capital.

Then Algeria, whose President Houari Boumedienne is the current chairman of the Arab League, announced Thursday that it would not move the meeting from Tripoli. It added that the meeting might be postponed until next Wednesday, March 13.

Arab conferences often reflect the views of host countries, and since Libyan President Moammar Khadafy is strongly opposed to any easing of the embargo, observers speculated that Sadat's proposal would have less chance of success at a meeting in Tripoli. The Egyptian oil ministry official said such speculation was "premature and untrue."

Algeria also opposes resumption of oil shipments to the United States. Sources close to Algerian Energy Minister Belaid Abdesslem said he vetoed Egypt's invitation to hold the meeting in Cairo because he was angered by Sadat's promises to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to try to end the ban.

Cattlemen Blast Middleman Profits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cattlemen say they are being run out of business by high feed costs and fat profit margins by middlemen who they contend are charging consumers more for beef than necessary.

And to prove their case a group of Iowa cattle feeders — those who fatten animals for the consumer markets — plan to sell beef on New York City streets at 15 per cent less than supermarkets are charging.

Glenn Gregg, president of the Sioux County Cattlemen's Association, said Thursday the New York beef sale may even result in tailgate hawking from a truck chartered by angry Midwestern beef producers.

The plan, he told a news conference, is still to be worked out. But it involves trucking Iowa beef to New York at only the cost of slaughtered beef animals, transportation charges and a $25 per carcass markup.

Gregg said the idea of the New York demonstration, tentatively set for March 15, is to show city consumers that middlemen are taking huge chunks of the beef dollar.

Clarence G. Adamy, president of the National Association of Food Chains, said retail profits are dangerously low and that recent declines in cattle prices are temporary.

"The implication that retailers are profiteering is a gross misstatement and one I deeply resent," Adamy said.

His comments followed a statement Thursday by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz that middlemen have not passed on to consumers recent declines in cattle prices. Those dropped from $48 per 100 pounds in late January to around $43 this week.

Figures by USDA show feed prices have doubled since a year ago while prices for live cattle are about the same.

Butz said consumers paid a record $1.48 per pound on an all-cut basis for beef in the week ended Feb. 9 and that increased further to $1.53 by Feb. 16. Meantime, he said, live cattle prices dropped two cents per pound.

The Iowa group said it was considering antitrust lawsuits against meat packers and chain stores.
